

A Workshop of the Phenomenology and Mental Health Network

“Phenomenology and Qualitative Health Research”

Organized by Anthony Fernandez, Marcin Moskalewicz, & Dan Zahavi

The Collaborating Centre for Values-based Practice in Health and Social Care

St. Catherine’s College, University of Oxford, Manor Road, OX1 3UJ

Date: Thursday, June 20th, 2019. Time: 8.00 am – 5.00 pm.

9.00-9.30 Registration

9.30 “Applied Phenomenology” – Dan Zahavi (University of Copenhagen & University of Oxford)

10.30 “A Phenomenological Approach to Qualitative Research: Investigating Modes of Being in the World” – Anthony V. Fernandez (University of Oxford & Kent State University) & Allan Køster (Aalborg University)

11.30 Refreshments

12.00 “Temporal Experience During Ovarian Cancer Treatment” – Marcin Moskalewicz (Poznan University of Medical Sciences & The Oxford Research Centre in the Humanities), Yanna Popova (Oxford Brookes University), & Jadwiga Wiertelwska-Bielarz (Poznan University of Medical Sciences)

13.00 Lunch

14.30 “A Specific Method for Medical Qualitative Research: a Phenomenological and Experiential Approach” – Jordan Sibeoni (Argenteuil Hospital Centre) & Anne Révah-Levy (Paris Diderot University)

15.30 “An Argument for the Use of Multiple Methodologies in Mental Health and Psychotherapy Research” – Valeria N. Motta (University of Birmingham)

16.30 Refreshments

17.00-17.30 Open final discussion

Attendance is free of charge and includes lunch and refreshments, but there is a limit of 20 guests. To book a place in the workshop, please email the PMH Network convener, Marcin Moskalewicz, at moskalewicz@gmail.com If you have any dietary requirements (e.g. vegetarian / vegan / allergies etc.) please put your request in the email. If you can't attend this event but would like to join the Phenomenology and Mental Health Network, please send a message to Marcin Moskalewicz at moskalewicz@gmail.com