

Please join us for the Advanced Seminar in theorizing and discussing ‘Giving Uptake: Epistemological, Ethical, and Legal Considerations’ at St Catherine's College, Oxford on November 27, 2019, 9-5 pm.

This one-day Advanced Seminar examines what it means to truly listen and respond appropriately to communicators. We will examine questions such as what counts as ‘appropriate’ responses, who decides this, and what enhances or impedes successful understanding and communication, whether in clinic, psychiatric hospital, or co-production. In particular, we will focus on experiences of service users, who often feel like they are not truly listened to and not taken seriously as knowers who can contribute to knowledge production. For a longer description of this topic, see [link to ‘Advanced Seminar 2019’].

Tentative schedule:

9 am. – 1 pm: Speakers
Dr. Nancy Nyquist Potter
Professor Emerita, Philosophy
Associate with the Department of Psychiatry

Dr David Crepaz-Keay
Head of Empowerment and Social Inclusion
Mental Health Foundation

Colin King
Convener Black and Asian Coaches Association

There will be coffee breaks and discussion time after each speaker.

1-2: Lunch

2-4: Small group case discussions, applications, and problem-solving

4-5: Reports, open discussion, and future directions

To read the final proofs of a forthcoming article by Potter on this topic, please see [link to EJPCHC article].

Note: Space is limited to 25 people, so sign up early to secure your place. We regret that there are no funds for delegates.

For additional questions, please do not hesitate to contact the convener, Nancy Nyquist Potter, at nancy.potter@louisville.edu